

Menpa Phuntsog Wangmo parla agli studiosi in visita da Harvard

Date : November 24, 2018

1709 Cambridge St, Cambridge 02138 MA

Cambridge Health Salon

Topic: Science of Tibetan Medicine And Buddha Medicine

Time: Nov 13th 6:30pm-8pm 2018

Dr. Phuntsog Wangmo received her advanced degree from the Lhasa University School of Traditional Medicine in 1988 after completing her five year training program and two-year residency. She is the international Director of the School of Tibetan Medicine and Chögyal Namkhai Norbu is its' founder. The Shang Shung Institute School of Tibetan Medicine is the first Tibetan Medicine school established in the West, and it offers a four-year curriculum.	Dr. Zhang Haisheng MD, PhD, is a postdoctoral fellow at Tufts Medical Center and the Harvard McLean Hospital. He also completed a postdoctoral research on Chinese Medicine at the China Academy of TCM. He has studied Traditional Chinese Medicine for 25 years with Dr. YangJun, the sixth-generation lineage holder in TCM. He has received MD degree from Tianjin University of TCM in 2012 and registered a PhD program in Integral and Transpersonal Psychology at the California Institute of Integral Studies.
Host:

